

GOTTMER

Children's Books

Palm Trees at the North Pole

Marc ter Horst (txt) & Wendy Panders (ill.)

- The children's book about climate change
- Light-hearted, clear and honest

In Palm Trees at the North Pole, Marc ter Horst tells his readers everything they need to know about climate change. It's a story filled with volcanoes, mammoths and steam engines. And with brave scientists drilling deep into the ice to prove that climate change has always taken place, but that today's global warming is an entirely different story. Not only is Palm Trees at the North Pole a book about the most important issue facing the next generation, it's also full of surprising information and a really fun read!

The award-winning duo Marc ter Horst and Wendy Panders created the successful Hé aardbewoner (Hey There, Earth Dweller!) of which the rights were sold to 6 languages.

Hardcover, full-colour illustrations | 20 x 23 cm | 156 pages | ages 10 and up | € 19,99

For more information:

Lorain Grabowski, foreign rights

lg@gottmer.nl

Gottmer Publishing Group

P.O. Box 317

2000 AH HAARLEM

The Netherlands

www.gottmer.nl

GOTTMER